The effect of the 1924-25 budget on the tax rate cannot be determined at this time, it was brought out at the Council meeting this morning, as the assessed valuation of Glendale property, on which the tax rate is based, will not be known until August, when the Los Angeles county Board of Supervisors, sitting as the Board of Equalization, establishes the assessed valuation of all property within the county. The present Glendale tax rate varies from $1.08 to $1.10 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Home Again

PETER HANSON, president of the Glendale Realty board, back from the national gathering of realtors and also the international meet of the Optimists.

President of Local Realtors Back From East, Tells About Conditions

Peter Hanson, president of the Glendale Realty board, returned home yesterday after a trip of several weeks in the east, during which he attended the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at Washington, D. C., as the delegate from the local board, and also took part in the convention of the Optimists' International at Milwaukee, Wis. Mr. Hanson accompanied his husband back east.

Coast Looks Best

"Business conditions on the coast are five to one more favorable than they are in the cities," Hanson said. "I visited in the east," says Mr. Hanson, "and found that business is normal there. The weather during our trip was marked by rains twenty-one days out of the twenty-three we were on the road, and on only two days did we see the sun, so that California looks better than ever when we crossed the state line."

"Many of the big department stores are running at a loss, I was told by their executives, and many industrial plants are working on short time, and the general air in business centers of the east is one of depression, quite in contrast with the optimistic atmosphere that marks California."

Three Tornadoes

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson encountered three tornadoes while in the middle west, and the former says that the weather back there is worse than has been experienced in many years.

Mr. Hanson did not take any active part in the realtors' convention, but he spread the fame of Glendale both going and coming, handing out literature regarding this city and its advantages and giving out a fund of information in answer to the eager questions that were showered on him at every place he stopped. He only distended from his hostess activities when he reached Sacramento on the return trip, leaving the train there to finish the journey by automobile.

Among the cities where Mr. Hanson was, he said, were:

L. H. Wilson Named as Head of Park Board

L. H. Wilson was appointed chairman of the Park board at this morning's session held at the City hall, following acceptance of the resignation of L. T. Rowley from this position. Mr. Rowley will shortly leave for the east on an extended trip.

The board has taken over the work of the forestry department and now has available an appropriation for the trimming of trees along the city streets.

All trees henceforth removed from parkways must first have the sanction of the park board, it was decided. Such trees will first be offered to the city parks and those not thus utilized will then be offered to the public before being destroyed.

FLYER TELLS IN DETAIL OF TRIP

Lieut. Maughan Plans for Cross-Country Dash on Original Schedule

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—The dawn-to-dusk flight has proven beyond the shadow of a doubt the feasibility of rapidly massing a sufficient force of airplanes to protect America in times of war," Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan, tired but happy, declared today, following his unprecedented flight across the continent.

Fatigued by nearly twenty-two hours of almost continuous flight, during the greater part of which he was intermittently stricken with nausea, Lieutenant Maughan rested today while preparations were being made for a monster entertainment by San Francisco organization.

Lesson of Flight

"Of 100 planes starting from New York under normal conditions and with preparations made for refueling and minor repairs along the route, probably seventy-five would reach the Pacific coast in about the same time I did. That fact, which has been proven, is the most important revealed by the flight," he said. "I arrived here last night at 9:47:15."

Lieutenant Maughan told the following narrative of his thrilling trip to International News Service:

By RUSSELL MAUGHAN, U. S. Army Aviator

"I feel fine now, but I sure did have a hard time with my stomach during the greater part of the trip. When I had been out from Mitchell field six or seven hours, I found I could not hold my breakfast down. My stomach became sensitive from the high speed I was traveling at high altitude."

"There were plenty of times during my sick spells when travel was pretty rough, but I always succeeded in righting my machine. I don't know exactly what my average speed was, but I estimated it was somewhere around 140 miles an hour at times and at others 160 miles."

Weather Conditions

"The weather was against me during practically the whole trip, and I would have made it in schedule time under better conditions."

"I had about 150 miles of rain, 100 miles of fog and the rest was hard traveling through low hanging clouds. A heavy wind backed me during two-thirds of the way. For the rest of the trip there was a heavy cross wind, the most dangerous wind of all."

"Between the plane and myself, it was I who proved the worse performer. There was no serious mechanical difficulty."

"At one time I became over zealous and broke a casting. That was just before I reached Dayton, Ohio. That delayed me an hour and a quarter for repairs."

No action was taken by the board of governors of the club in the case of Dr. Mitchell, whom Robinson hit in the eye, after charging him with being "very insolent."

FLAMES MENACE GIANT REDWOODS

Forest Fire Sweeping North Toward Grant Park as Winds Increase

FRESNO, Cal., June 24.—Threatening to sweep into General Grant park, a forest fire which started Sunday near Pinehurst this afternoon was burning northward toward Redwood mountain, where the finest redwood groves in the state are located. A crew of more than 200 men have been pressed into service to combat the fire which has burned over nearly 3,000 acres of timber and brush.

Shortly before noon today, Forest Supervisor Cunningham declared that the wind had increased and was veering to the west, which makes the situation even more precarious for the park, but more favorable for the Redwood mountains. In a desperate effort to keep the flames from entering General Grant park, Cunningham is concentrating his men on the south boundary line.

Fire Blocks Road

The fire today was reported to have jumped the road in several places between Pinehurst and General Grant park and tourists in the park have been warned not to try to leave the place by this road. Following this warning, many campers made preparations to leave the park via the Millwood road through Hume.

At North Fork, in Madera county, another forest fire has burned over 5,000 acres and was reported still burning to the north today. A hundred men, working in two shifts, has succeeded in checking the flames on three sides and hopes were held out that the fire will be brought under control late today.

LEADERS IN UNCERTAIN CONTEST

Many Delegates Change In Lineup; McAdoo and Smith Forces Clash

By DAVID LAWRENCE, Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, June 24.—Although the balloting for nominations will not come until Thursday or Friday, a number of things are developing as the delegates of the Democratic National convention assemble which give an interesting line on what is going to happen.

First of all, William Gibbs McAdoo and Governor Al Smith control more than 800 of the 1095 delegates. The so-called "dark horses," of whom there is an abundance, depend entirely for their opportunity on a break-up of the Smith and McAdoo forces. But pre-convention strategy does not move as fast now as it will when the balloting begins, and only if every leader could appraise at its true value, the promises of support he has been given, would it be possible to form a definite estimate of strength.

Combine Against McAdoo

To date, there is a growing combination which has for its primary object the defeat of McAdoo, because, until he is eliminated, there is little chance of Smith or any of the dark horses. So the entire field has been combed for a working coalition which will operate constantly against McAdoo in as many ballots as shall be necessary.

The hand of the anti-McAdoo forces having been shown, his supporters have redoubled their efforts to hold their lines, and even McAdoo himself has been receiving delegates for the last twenty-four hours in as many ballots as shall be necessary.

In the middle of it all comes the New York World with an editorial supporting Al Smith, furnishing more ammunition for the anti-McAdoo combination, for while there are a number of delegates who are by no means converted to the idea of nominating Smith, they have first to be convinced that McAdoo should be deserted.

Both Loss and Gain

There is no doubt that McAdoo has lost several delegates since last Saturday but there is also every reason to believe he has picked up several he did not have before. Whether there is a net loss or net gain is difficult even for his own managers to determine, but this correspondent knows of at least two delegations which have broken away from McAdoo under the unit rule which will break away after two or three ballots.

This is to a great extent a "bandwagon" convention. Many delegations are looking cautiously about, refusing to commit themselves.

Woodrow Wilson's 'Political Will' In Battle on McAdoo

NEW YORK, June 24.—Details of a careful bit of strategy by which former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker is expected to try to stampede the Democratic National convention for ex-Governor Cox of Ohio, leaked out today from the Buckeye delegation's headquarters. Baker, according to these reports, intends to sweep the Wilson enthusiasts off their feet by reading a letter never made public from the former president to Cox, in which Mr. Wilson is described as saying that Cox was the only outstanding member of the Democratic party with courage to stand up for the Wilsonian doctrine, foreign and domestic, without reservation.

CONVENTION RACKED BY RIVALRY

Protracted Battle Looms as Opposing Candidates Jockey for Lead

By GEORGE R. HOLMES, For International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The curtain went today on a Democratic national convention torn with dissension, split into snarling factions—and headed straight for a deadlock, the duration of which cannot be gauged.

Upon one point only was there apparent agreement among the leaders. That was that this convention will see protracted balloting and bitter fighting such as few Democratic conventions have ever witnessed and that before a man is selected to oppose President Coolidge in November such wide schisms may be created as will not yield to the soothing medicine of harmony and unity during the campaign.

The platform fighting over a trio of controversial issues—the Ku Klux Klan, the League of Nations and prohibition—is bitter enough.

Battles In Progress

But the fight for the nomination is worse. While William G. McAdoo and Governor Al Smith occupy the center ring of this garden circus with their private duel, dozen smaller rights are in progress throughout the arena, any one of which may produce the man of destiny who will emerge from this convention and seek to heal the wounds that are being inflicted here.

With his back to the wall, and fighting back viciously against charges and accusations, McAdoo sought today to retain the lead he has built up by months of intensive organization and preparation. He is assured of some 450 votes from the south and west in the early balloting.

Other Candidates

Close behind him and making undeniable progress is Governor Smith. With the nucleus of his strength found in the greatest industrial centers of the north and mid-west, New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Illinois, New Jersey and Wisconsin, the New York governor is certain of approximately 300 votes in the early balloting.

And trailing these pacers run a full score of candidates—John W. Davis of West Virginia, Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana, Oscar

Rum Runners Assault, Bind Sleuth to Tree

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—Lured to a lonely spot in the Santa Monica hills, Patrick Mahoney, prohibition investigator of the district attorney's office here, was beaten, tied to a tree and left to die by a gang of men today. According to the injured man who was rushed to a hospital, rum runners were responsible for the attack.

Hull Again Collapses

Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic National committee, suffered another collapse today from heat and was carried unconscious from the platform of the Democratic convention just as Senator "Pat" Harrison finished his keynote speech.

Today's collapse was the second in two days for the Tennesseean. It was attributed to the intense heat of the garden and the extremely arduous labors of Chairman Hull in arranging for the convention.

He was warned by his physicians against over-exertion. He was revived after a few minutes. Hull came back on the speakers' platform later and, although

MAJORITY OF VOTES NOT ENOUGH TO WIN

Remarkable Tribute for Woodrow Wilson at Democratic Meet

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, June 24.—The rules committee of the Democratic convention this afternoon adopted the much discussed two-thirds rule required for the nomination of a candidate.

The committee also decided that the adoption of the platform by the convention will precede the balloting on the presidential candidate.

The vote on the two-thirds rule was 51 to 3.

The action of the rules committee was regarded as ending finally the effort that has been made here by friends of William G. McAdoo to abrogate the time-honored rule in favor of a straight majority nomination.

It is regarded as unlikely that a fight against it will be taken to the floor of the convention, in view of the overwhelming majority which the rules committee promptly decided against a change. Some of McAdoo's supporters, however, may decide to carry it further, with or without his consent.

Tribute to Wilson

A remarkable tribute was paid to Woodrow Wilson, whose voice, had he lived, would have been a dominant factor in the convention. The first mention of his name by Senator Harrison brought the convention to its feet almost as a unit, with a cheer that thundered from the floor and made the framework of the old garden vibrate.

For fifteen minutes the demonstration of respect and reverence for the dead continued unabated. The banners of the various states were caught up by eager, enthusiastic Wilson Democrats, and a parade was staged through the aisles that ultimately drew in nearly every delegate from the floor and many of the spectators.

Committees at Work

In the end a resolution of respect was offered and adopted, and the convention then adjourned until 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, when it will reassemble to hear the speech of the permanent chairman, Senator Walsh of Montana.

The platform and other committees started work immediately after adjournment.

Hull Again Collapses

Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic National committee, suffered another collapse today from heat and was carried unconscious from the platform of the Democratic convention just as Senator "Pat" Harrison finished his keynote speech.

Today's collapse was the second in two days for the Tennesseean. It was attributed to the intense heat of the garden and the extremely arduous labors of Chairman Hull in arranging for the convention.

COMMENT

That's All
All Hail To Maughan!
Hint To Historians
The Real Fireworks
The Issue At Stake
—By Gil A. Cowan

All hail Lieut. Russell A. Maughan, U. S. A. On his third attempt to cross the continent between dawn and dusk he literally accomplished the stunt by leaving New York at 2:59 a. m. and arriving in San Francisco at 9:44 p. m.

It was a wonderful achievement, a demonstration of faith
that the performance was possible.
And with that indomitable courage which has marked the intrepid airman's previous exploits he won out, although at the very last minute it seemed as though he might be foiled by fog.

Cross-country flying from coast to coast is not every day exercise and it demonstrates little that is practical, perhaps, for already the air mail pilots are making the San Francisco-New York schedule in 24 hours by relay. But Maughan's demonstration of the possibilities in aviation development is such as to command the respect and attention of any thinking people.

In a way Maughan's flight is more worthy of commendation than round world flyers who are making an arduous task of what appeared to be a simple little pleasure excursion. Of course, they have had very poor luck.
And they have traversed territory in which accommodations are far between.

To think of American fliers reaching Calcutta, India, where they are due today, is quite an extensive thought for a dissertation. That for historians of their epoch-making flight.

In New York today the real fireworks of the Democratic convention are expected to start popping. So far we have read hokum, it would appear. Now, for a few facts as to the strength of Messrs.
McAdoo and Smith, we commend you to the news columns.

Judge Palmer presents his view of the political situation in the Hollywood Citizens as follows:

"Why all the fight in the ranks of the Democratic delegates to the party's national convention? Many
ask. And the answer is simple.

"It is fight for or against the control of the party by men representing the same interests as are also represented in the Republican party.

"It is not a question of a difference in ideas as to what is for the best public interests.

"It is a question of whether or not politicians representing special interests are to gain control in the convention.

"Special interests, you know,
are not much concerned in party lines. They contribute huge funds to the campaign coffers of both old parties.

McAdoo and Smith, who have funds to the campaign coffers of both old parties, are both machines with equal cheerfulness.

"That is why the fight is interesting to citizens regardless of party affiliations or lack of party affiliations.

"We may be conservatives; we may be progressives; we may be radicals; but all of us want to feel that our government is being administered according to the honest views of officials striving to serve the best public interests
as they see it.

"It is not a question of McAdoo or Al Smith or any other particular candidate, but it is a question of whether the candidate selected is going to be under the influence of special interests."

side the United States flag at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Verner Read, at 239 North Verdugo road, has caused a great deal of conjecture, but the secret is now
out. The flag of the United States is for Mr. Read, an American citizen, while that of the Dominion is for Mrs. Read, who was born in Canada.

The two flags, small ones, were put up side by side on Decoration Day by Miss Hazel Read, their daughter. There they are to remain, the family agrees, until the winds of time fray them to tatters, an emblem of the division great-friendly countries, along whose 3000-mile boundary line is not one single fortification.

the organization of such a branch.
Van W. Bishop has requested that all former Third division men send their names and addresses to him at 405 Hoesfield building,
Los Angeles, in order to let him

CEREMONY MARKS CHURCH OPENING

Baptists Dedicate Building
As Large Congregation
Attends Services

SUNLAND, June 24.—Two hundred and fifty people, the largest congregation ever assembled in a Sunland church, Sunday attended the formal dedication of the new $10,000 Baptist church on First street. Surrounding communities of the Verdugo hills, Glendale, and the San Fernando valley were represented at the services.

Rev. W. F. Harper, executive

the dedicatory sermon. The invocation was by Rev. C. S. Mad-

ing and Rev. H. B. Foskett the dedicatory prayer. Mrs. Leo Smith

Sunland, Jesse Smith, son of the pastor of the new church, and Otto Herrmann contributed instrumental and vocal numbers to the program. Rev. W. E. Smith officiated
as moderator.

The dedication of the new building was made clear of debt.
Credit for this accomplishment is given by the congregation to the tireless efforts of Mr. Smith, who a year ago undertook the task of building a new church to replace the old one.

The annual High Jinks of the Glendale Realty Board is to be staged on Saturday, June 28, at the new park recently donated to the city of Glendale by the Had-dock-Nibley company in the Ross-moyne tract, according to ar-rangements just completed by the committee in charge of the enter-tainment.

The program will start with a ball game between two carefully selected teams at 2:30, and from that time on the afternoon will be taken up with a program of ath-letic sports that will be open to all the members, their wives and families. The entertainment com-mittee is now working out the complete program and will be ready to announce it at tomor-row's weekly luncheon in the Alley Inn.

Coffee and lemonade will be provided by the board and the guests will be asked to bring their own lunches.

Ad Club's President Selects Member for New Civic Financial Body

The appointment of Frank Hoopes, of the realty firm of Bar-low & Hoopes, 117 West Broad-way, as the representative of the Glendale Ad Club on the bond advisory committee, is announced by Ed N. Radke, president of the club.

The committee, which is to be composed of representatives of the various civic and service or-ganizations, will meet at the city hall Wednesday, June 25, at 10 a. m., to perfect its organization. Mr. Hoopes was president of the Oklahoma City Ad Club for two terms and was a delegate to the international conventions of ad-vertising men that met in Toron-to, Can., and Dallas, Tex. His experience in business affairs of importance extending over a long period was one of the factors that induced President Radke to se-lect him for the post on the bond advisory committee, which will exercise supervision over any pro-jects that call for the voting of indebtedness by the city of Glen-dale before such projects are sub-mitted to the voters.

PLAN TO DISCUSS THREE NEW ROADS

Campaign to Be Launched at Mass Meeting Held by Valley Residents

An intensive campaign for Riv-erside drive, Victory boulevard and Sepulveda boulevard will be launched at a mass meeting and banquet to be held in the ball room of the Alexandria hotel, in Los Angeles, on Friday night, June 27, under the auspices of the Greater San Fernando Valley association. The banquet will start at 6:30 o'clock and will be followed by the mass meeting.

The three thoroughfares are listed as the three primary pro-jects of the association. It is the purpose of the meeting to bring together the officials of city and county governments with several hundred residents of the San Fer-nando valley in order that a closer acquaintance with each other may be formed, according to the an-nouncement of officials of the as-sociation.

LOCAL MOTORISTS DRIVE TO MEXICO

Ensenada, Baja, California, Is Visited by Party From Glendale

Baja, California, was the des-tination recently of a motor party of Glendale people, and since their return they have interesting accounts to give of their visit in Ensenada. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Bullock of Verdugo Rancho, Mr. and Mrs. Pettit and daughter, Mrs. Urquidez of Ver-dugo City; Mrs. Neiles and daugh-ters, Genevieve and Edith of San Francisco, and Mrs. Romero of Glendale.

The trip covered 600 miles. Mo-toring south they stopped at La-guna Beach, San Diego and Tia Juana. While in Ensenada they were guests at the Beach hotel, where they found many others from Glendale.

See Big Liquor Cache
Mr. Bullock drove his Lexing-ton car and upon arriving in Mexico he found himself most popular because of the fact that Angel Flores, presidential candi-date, also drives a Lexington.

So delightful was the stay in Ensenada the party plans a return trip shortly to hunt game, which is said to be very plentiful.

Among the experiences while there the Glendallians saw the $150,000 liquor cache recently confiscated by the Mexican gov-ernment.

Finds Roads Good

In offering information for oth-er vacationists Mr. Bullock says that before leaving San Diego he was told the roads were bad, but he says he found them as good as some of our California roads. "A person enjoying outdoor life should not overlook this wonder-ful trip to Ensenada," says Mr. Bullock.

He and his party were also en-tertained by Tom Quinlan and Ed Donnelly of the Green Mill. Mr. Quinlan is a property owner in La Crescenta.

Boy Scouts Leave to Spend Island Holiday

Under the leadership of Harvey R. Cheesman, Scout executive of this district, eighty Boy Scouts from Glendale and vicinity board-ed the Pacific Electric special for Wilmington at 7:45 this morning. They were en route to Catalina island, where they will be in camp until July 2.

They will arrive at camp in time for their noon meal. Before the start, Mr. Cheesman intro-duced the cook to the boys and he was greeted with three rousing cheers. The boys were accompa-nied by Bob Taylor, the oldest Scout master in the United States.

A program of athletic activities and daily exercises will be carried out at camp, where all is in readi-ness for the first group of boys. This eighty will return at the end of nine days and another group of like size will make the trip.

Planning Commission Passes on Tract Maps

The City Planning Commission last night looked over a number of maps at their regular Monday night session in the city hall. A map of a tract on Highland ave-nue was approved, a map of a tract in Sycamore canyon was ap-proved and a map of a tract in the county, near the intersection of Michigan and York boulevards, La Crescenta, was disapproved. The latter map was opposed by the commission because its lots set off the street at an angle, causing the tract not to conform with the surrounding territory.

ACCIDENT COSTS REDUCE REVENUE

Traction Companies Pay Out Part of Receipts to Injured Persons

An interesting fact brought home to all who ever ride on street cars is told by the Metro-politan Life Insurance company of New York city, which issues a statement that part of all money paid in fares goes to meet the cost of accidents.

Accident figures compiled for one traction company show that in a twelve-month period the uti-lity company paid close to $50,000 in claims.

In connection with the ac-cidents it was found that 46 per cent were due to collisions with motor vehicles and 14 per cent due to collisions with horse-drawn vehicles.

Further data show that alight-ing from stationary cars is just as perilous as boarding them, but that alighting from a moving car is less dangerous than boarding a moving car.

Causes of Accidents
Of the public accidents only 2 per cent were due to the cars starting while passengers were getting off or on; 6 per cent oc-curred within the cars; one per cent was due to passengers being thrown from their seats in round-ing curves and 3 per cent by per-sons being struck by cars.

The safety engineer who made the study recommended steps be taken by the company, which he estimates may make possible a reduction of 69 per cent in public accidents and of 59 per cent in industrial accidents.

Elks Make Plans for Dance Next Saturday

Seven candidates were balloted upon by the Glendale Elks lodge, No. 1239, at the regular meeting last night, and were accepted for initiation. Plans for the dance to be given on Saturday, June 28, were reported complete, and it was announced that a promi-nent orchestra had been secured. Entertainment features will be provided and the hall will be appropriately decorated. The dance is restricted to lodge mem-bers and friends.

Next Monday night, the Hunt-ington Beach lodge, No. 1415, will visit Glendale, and the officers will put on the initiatory work for several candidates. They will be guests of the Glendale Elks at dinner preceding the ceremonies. A good attendance was reported for last night's meeting.

To Glendale Taxpayers

Cut Out This Waste of Money

Get Electroliers That Require No Paint!

Petitions have been circulated calling for the installation of an ornamental lighting system for certain streets—similar to San Fernando Blvd., but specifying cast iron and pressed steel standards instead of "cement."

Many property owners have signed such petitions, but they are deliberate mis-representations because San Fernando Boulevard's electroliers are Marbelite—not "cement."

Marbelite 15 Times Stronger Than Concrete

Marbelite under any and every test is 15 times stronger than concrete, and any engineer will tell you of the great difference between cement and reinforced concrete. Bessemer thought out a method of forcing a blast of air through the molten metal and as the result we had hard steel. The Marbelite Corporation have a method of centri-fugally spinning concrete, which makes the concrete as hard as chilled iron, conse-quently Marbelite is to concrete what Bessemer is to steel.

Marbelite standards look like carved granite. They are far more beautiful and at-tractive than painted metal.

No Upkeep Expense For Marbelite

Marbelite standards require no painting, while metal standards must be painted every year or two to keep them fresh. Marbelite's original cost is lower than metal.

Marbelite Is California Product

Marbelite standards are made in Los Angeles. By installing them, we encourage local industry and spend our money where it is returned to us.

Let me explain to you or to your Improvement Association privately or in a public meeting why MARBELITE Electroliers were chosen for San Francisco's beautiful Civic Center.

Now is the time to investigate ornamental lights if you are an interested property owner, not after the contract has been let and you must proceed.

Let me show you how Marbelite is 25% less expensive than metal (upkeep con-sidered).

A DAY'S WORK

The quarrel between capital and labor will come to an end with the millennium. It is hard to understand why two groups so essential to each other should find it necessary to be constantly at war. After all, it narrows down to individuals, for not all employers try to exploit their workmen, and not all workmen have grievances against their employers. There is no reason why there should not be sympathy and understanding between employer and employee. The man who does the lowest kind of work is entitled to fair treatment and respect if he does his work well and earns his wage. The workman should realize that the employer has probably invested considerable capital and taken enormous risks in establishing his business, and must necessarily spend many sleepless nights in planning that he may be prepared to pay wages to those who need not concern themselves about the work after working hours.

An employer should pay fair wages, provide surroundings as pleasant, safe and sanitary as possible, and then expect a full day's work and loyalty to the organization from the employee. A wage earner should give the best that is in him and then expect fair treatment from his employer in return. The man who soldiers on the job and tries to "get by" by giving as little as he can in return for his wage is not dealing fairly with his employer nor with himself. His employer is losing money, he is losing self-reliance and self-respect.

There are no sweat shops in Glendale. It is safe to say that there is no place in the United States where living and working conditions are better. There are many industries here, many concerns that employ a great many men and women.

Jokes about the electrician soldiering on the job, going back to the shop for tools and making exorbitant charges for his work are stale and overdrawn, but it does seem that a great many men who are employed, for instance, by contractors in the building trades are afraid of giving their employers value received. There is a tendency on the part of some to do as little as possible, waste as much time and material as possible and then feel that they are getting the best of some one. Of course they are cheating and robbing the one for whom they are working, but he is not the one to suffer most. A self-respecting man who agrees to take a job wants to do and will do a full day's work for a day's wage.

If more workmen would show a desire to get a job done, to do a day's work in a day, to eliminate waste as far as possible, it would encourage rather than hinder building as many seem to think. Many people are completely worn out after building a small residence and will not build again. Of course, this kind of work is hampered unnecessarily by ordinances outlining specifications and requiring inspections, for which the workman is not to blame.

It is queer reasoning for a man to think he is getting the best of the bargain when he soldiers on the job. True, he is taking from his employer, but what is he getting himself? Nothing but loss of character.

The man or woman who does what is expected for a day's work and then does just a little more will sleep better at night, respect himself more, become more efficient and able to earn more than the one who does as little as he can. There are not many employers who are not ready to reward efficiency, loyalty and devotion to duty by promotion, advancement and increased salary.

OFFERS TEN SUGGESTIONS

There are many things parents can do to help in the great task of bringing up the children of today to be the sterling men and women of tomorrow that America must have to maintain world leadership. Edward W. Stitt of New York city, an educational leader, suggests the following ten, which he believes are no less than duties of parents toward their children:

1. Set proper standards for your children to follow.
2. Be friends with your children, walk and play with them occasionally. We must not live above our children but with them.
3. Do not scold too much. Encourage them to do their best. Let us remember what Phillips Brooks said: "Children are white, spotted black; not black, spotted white."
4. See that they select proper friends and associates.
5. Make "home" as comfortable and happy as your means permit.
6. Give your children at least a high-school education.
7. Train them in the habit of regular attendance at church and Sunday school.
8. See that they avoid all games of chance. A gambler never can be a success in life.
9. See that your children take plenty of physical training in the open air. It is better exercise to walk than to ride in a "limousine."
10. Let your children feel that any honor which they win in school, or any act of courage, or unselfishness they may perform, will bring great happiness to father and mother and put the family name on a higher plane of honor. Do not forget that the future of America depends upon how your boys and girls are trained today, not on how you were trained when you were children.

INTERNATIONAL MORALITY

Everywhere the vital importance of conserving the nation's moral forces is being stressed. Particularly at this time of year, when schools and colleges throughout the land are turning out graduates who will have to confront the practical things of life next fall, the thought is a significant one and scarcely a baccalaureate address fails to charge these graduates with the necessity for higher, truer ideals.

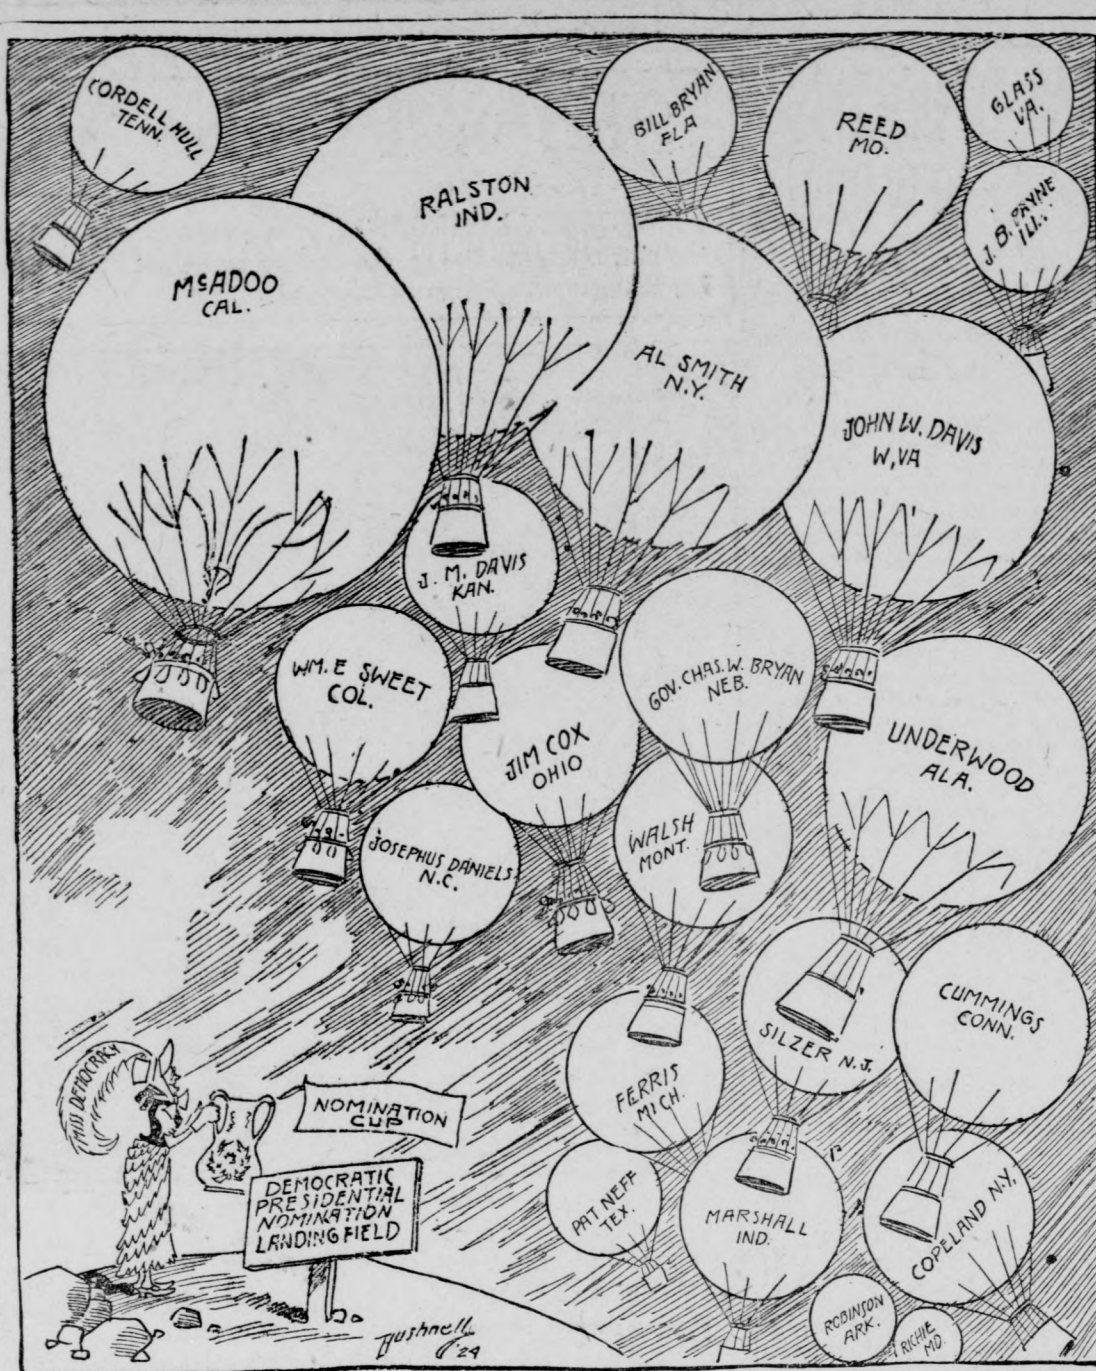

But the thought must go beyond the nation, out across the seas and into the corners of the earth, if war is to be abolished. International morality is essential to continued peace. Only so long as the nations are fair and just in their dealings one with another, will war be averted.

This is a thought upon which the young of this land should ponder. In their hands lies the future of America, and to a large extent the future of the world. It remains with them to mold it well or ill.

Politics is like hide-and-seek. The candidate seeks the office and then hides.

THE GREAT NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC BALLOON RACE

Othoring Yourself

By DR. FRANK CRANE

John M. Siddall, who edited the American Magazine, was a success.

He built up the circulation of his publication to an amazing figure, even in these days of big figures.

And he did it by having and hanging on to one idea, even as a dog hangs onto a bone.

One idea is enough, if it is right. Some men have but one idea, and that is wrong.

Siddall's idea was this: "Only one thing interests all human beings always, and that is the human being himself."

In other words, the one most absorbing topic of interest in the world, overshadowing all others, is ME.

That this is true is proved by the admirable rule of William James: That Truth is What Will Work.

This has worked. Siddall made money out of it for his paper.

The curious phase of this, however, is that it is simply The Golden Rule.

That rule, in substance, is "Other Yourself" and succeed, "other" here being a verb, imperative mood.

And that rule, scientifically speaking, amounts to this: "Use your imagination."

So doing, you picture to yourself the mind and feelings of the other fellow, and in proportion as you do this you "get" him and hold and interest him.

We lose our grip on another because we fail to see rightly whether he is straying. Hence we cannot follow.

The Salesman does not "sell" his customer, because he cannot become his customer.

The Parent and Teacher fail with the child because they cannot "become as little children."

The Speaker does not interest his audience because he cannot get out of his own mind over into theirs.

For the same kind of reason the Lawyer does not convince his jury, the Novelist his readers and the newspaper its public.

We mistake when we suppose any truth is true in religion but not elsewhere.

Othoring yourself is not only the way to get to heaven; it is the way to sell goods, to get elected, to make your girl love you, to get along with your neighbors, to manage workers and to keep peace in the family.

England and Ireland are in trouble because neither can other itself over to the point of view of the other.

Labor and Capital clash when each indulges in thinking about itself and not trying to understand the other.

The most enlightened selfishness is unselfishness.

I wrote all this once in a fine article (I know it was fine, because I wrote it myself), and sent it to a magazine, and the editor didn't like it because, he said, it was "preaching."

It was. It is. But nothing in the world is so interesting to read as preaching, providing it is TO ME and not OVER ME, or about the Isle of Patmos or the Armenian Controversy, or something else I care nothing about.

This Golden Rule runs everywhere. Forget your health, and get well. Quit thinking about yourself is the only way to come to think well of yourself.

He that loseth his life shall save it. Of the man that saved more people than any other man it was said:

"He saved Others; Himself He could not save."

Good Old Days, Then And Now

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

The difference between thirty and forty years ago and now is nowhere so marked as in the printing and newspaper business. It was less than thirty years ago that Glendale's first newspaper was established. Glendale's population then probably could have been counted by the tens where now it is numbered by thousands. The mechanical equipment for the printing of The Glendale Encinal can be imagined. Presumably, it consisted of a desk, a few cases of type, leads and slugs and a Washington hand press, located in a small, poorly lighted and poorly ventilated room. The Washington hand press was the type of press in use then in newspaper offices in the small towns. The printing of a few hundred copies once a week (for it is doubtful if The Encinal had a larger circulation than that) was an arduous task with such a press. The type was inked and the blank paper put in place by hand, then the impression was made somewhat after the manner of a letter press. Slowly and laboriously one paper at a time was printed. Power machinery of any kind was undreamed of in The Encinal office.

The linotype machine was a crude affair then, far from the almost human mechanism in use today, and was utterly impractical for small shops. It is probable that the type-casting machine as used now had not been invented at that time. The Wheeler brothers who founded The Encinal likely gathered and wrote the news, set the type, read the proof, made up the forms, printed the paper and folded it by hand.

The traveling printer was an institution then, the tramp who wandered from place to place, working a few days and then passing on. The Encinal may never have employed a tramp printer, for it is likely that these rovers kept to the more thickly populated centers in the east.

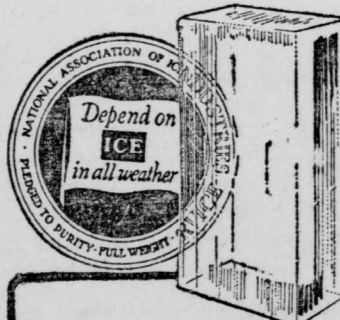

The old-time printer, the one who, as a boy, apprenticed himself to learn the trade, was an indispensable feature of the old-time print shop, but he has passed, superseded by modern printing machinery. He was not a specialist but an "all-round" printer capable of doing any kind of work in a print shop. Many of them, self-taught though they had been, were interesting characters, widely read and well informed.

The well equipped plant and the big staff of specialists of The Glendale Evening News today presents a striking contrast with that of The Glendale Encinal twenty-eight years ago. The type is set on seven linotype machines and a Ludlow typograph. There is machinery for casting rules, leads and slugs, and machinery for stereotyping and making plates and cuts and all machinery is electrically driven. The paper is printed on a two-color press that prints and folds 30,000 copies an hour and is distributed by fifty carrier boys to the homes of Glendale.

The News has been a part of Glendale since 1906 when it was established as a weekly and the paper expects to continue in growth with the city. Returning to "the good old days" means a long backward step for The Glendale Evening News.

Jupiter in benefic aspect dominates this day, according to astrology. The Sun and Neptune are adverse.

It is pre-eminently a time for pushing affairs and for making plans for the future.

Many changes are to take place in the commercial world and again great fortunes are to be made from the bad luck of nations, if the stars are read aright.

There is again a promising sign for educators who will be better paid and more honored every year from this time on.

Universities and colleges are to benefit as never before, and everywhere will be a demand for greater accommodations for students.

One of the 'prophecies' most often made by seers is that education will be valued as never before in the United States, where business will make demand for special training.

This may be rather discouraging to political workers, for Neptune is in a place where the influence is toward criticism and suspicion.

There will be growing discontent among certain classes of workers and increased numbers of unemployed at this time.

Astrologers have foretold that the summer months may bring financial problems to many, and have counseled thrift, but those who have failed to heed admonitions will now have a chance for regret.

Accidents on warships again are forecast and special care should be taken to avoid unnecessary dangers.

Some sort of excitement on the stock market is presaged for the last days of this month.

TWO THIRDS RULE FOR CONVENTION

Majority Vote Plan Once More Frowned Upon at Committee Meet

he was obviously weak, he said he "felt all right."

The garden was hot. Heat seemed to radiate downward from its old metal roof. Some of the delegates chuckled their coats within ten minutes.

At 12 o'clock, the hour of convening, the delegates were all in their seats and fanning vigorously.

Called to Order

It was 12:45 when "Joe" Hughes of Iowa, sergeant at arms of the convention, stalked out on the platform and began pounding for order. He had to pound so hard he broke his gavel.

Cordell Hull, chairman of the national committee, took charge. He introduced Cardinal Hayes, who asked divine guidance.

When the cardinal finished the band played "It's Star Spangled Banner" and the audience rose. Then Anna Case, a star of the Metropolitan Opera company, sang the national anthem from the platform.

Time out was taken for the photographers to get the official convention photograph.

Charles A. Greathouse of Indiana, secretary of the national committee, then read the official call for the convention.

Temporary Officers

Chairman Hull then proposed in the name of the national committee that Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi be named temporary chairman and mention of his name brought a yell from Mississippi and applause from other states. A long list of other temporary officers followed.

When the reading was finished, ex-Governor Campbell of Ohio, was recognized and moved the selections of the national committee be approved and it went over with a yell that made it unanimous.

Hull then appointed a committee to escort Senator Harrison to the platform.

"Pat" was given an ovation as he threaded his way through the crowded aisles to the platform. The cheering for the popular Mississippian broke out afresh as Hull formally introduced Harrison.

The crowd lost no time in showing their approval for Senator Harrison's remarks.

Fall and Daughtery

When he mentioned that Albert B. Fall "goes unmolested on his ranch in New Mexico and Daughtery sat in the Cleveland convention with the approval of President Coolidge while Daughtery's lawyer was chairman of the rules committee in the worst boss-ridden convention of a generation," the fairly lifted the roof.

Senator Harrison's attack on the Mellon plan received with hearty applause. His challenge to President Coolidge to try to supplant the coalition tax bill passed by this Congress with the Mellon bill next session was greeted with "that's right" and "go to it."

Laughter greeted his reference to the administration claiming credit for limitation of armament conference.

"A Democrat first suggested that conference," said the senator, "and it was pushed by Bill Borah of Idaho, in spite of the Republican administration. This was the same Borah that at Cleveland a week ago refused to be roped in by the Republicans to bolster up their ticket."

Great Demonstration

The greatest demonstration during the senator's speech came when after reviewing the scandals of peace-time Republicanism, he went into the history of the investigations which the Republican Congress made into Democratic expenditures during the war.

The delegates rose in their seats and cheered, and the band helped it along by striking up a popular air.

The heat in the hall by this time was becoming intense. Senator Harrison's collar was a limp rag around his neck and perspiration dripped off his face in a steady stream.

Whole rows of male delegates doffed their coats and sat in their shirt sleeves fanning vigorously. Cheering and applause greeted Harrison's accusation that President Coolidge has "wobbled" on the world court, but the cheers and the applause which had gone before were as nothing compared with the demonstration that came with the first mention of Woodrow Wilson's name.

With the pronouncement of the name the delegates sprang to their feet almost as one man and the garden roared with their cheers and the air was filled with hats thrown aloft.

Tells Of Lighting System

L. H. WILSON, president of the San Fernando Improvement association, endorses the MARBELITE standards that were installed along this traffic artery.

L. H. Wilson, president of the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association, comments most timely on the recent discussion on the installation of metal lighting standards on Glendale avenue.

"It really is too bad that various improvement associations cannot take advantage to a greater degree of the work done by other associations. Our lighting committee worked for months investigating electroliters of all makes and the Glendale Advancement association or any other improvement association is welcome at any and all times to go over these reports. By doing this I believe that they will save themselves considerable time and money and if they follow our lead in buying Marbelite standards they will buy a standard that will stand as long as Glendale is a city."

"Our Marbelite standards have not had one minute's attention since they were installed and they look as good today as they did two years ago when we turned on the lights for the first time. "One of the main reasons for my insistency in having Marbelite electroliters installed on San Fernando boulevard was the well recognized fact that they would need no painting from year to year. In fact the cost of maintenance would be practically nil."

"When I read the article in the Glendale Evening News of last Thursday, wherein Mr. Witt of the office of the superintendent of city lights and water informed first demonstration of the convention was under way.

Cheer For Wilson

An enthusiastic delegate from Ohio seized Ohio's flag and started around the aisles. A special officer shoved him back.

But, while the din continued, other state flags began to wave about in eager hands and finally, under the leadership of the same Ohio youth the parade was started.

The band helped it along, blaring forth into the stirring strains of "The Stars and Stripes Forever" and the "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

Those delegates that did not fall into line on the continuous trek about the aisles stood in their chairs and yelled their approval of the proceedings.

There were cries of "Hurrah for Woodrow Wilson" and the League of Nations." After the demonstration had continued nearly ten minutes the heat began to dampen the ardor of the marchers and slowly they began to make their way to their seats again. The band, however, kept up a continual medley of popular selections.

Controlled by Woman

Madame Case came back to the rostrum and quieted the blaring band with two uplifted and beautiful arms.

She controlled the convention far better than any chairman was able to do. The delegates did her bidding without question and sang themselves hoarse with her doing it.

When she finished, Harrison restored the convention to a semblance of order. The aisles were cleared and he plunged again into the course of his speech.

His every reference to Wilson and Wilsonian foreign policies brought cheers, applause and cries of approval.

Harrison finished speaking at 2:40 and was accorded a tremendous ovation.

He was well nigh exhausted. Perspiration drenched him. While the delegates stood and exhibited their approval the band struck up "Over There."

The convention adjourned until Wednesday at 11 a. m. and immediately afterward the platform and other committees began to function.

the members of the Glendale Advancement association that one of the additional items of expense in the installation of metal standards on Glendale avenue was $7 per standard for painting and a report had been filed with the association showing that there was a difference of $73.60 per standard between the two streets in favor of San Fernando boulevard. I was not at all surprised.

"The metal type of standard must be kept in a freshly painted condition in order to be at all effective and I am of the opinion that these standards will need repainting at least once a year. I have my opinion on the fact that the automobile industry has spent millions of dollars in trying to bring out a paint finish on an automobile that would stand up at least six months. Lighting standards are exposed to the elements twenty-four hours a day. "It is our intention to have the entire length of San Fernando boulevard equipped with Marbelite standards. The news that property owners of San Fernando boulevard frontage in the city of Los Angeles have by an overwhelming majority signified their approval by signing up for Marbelite, makes every member of the San Fernando Boulevard association feel that they used good judgment in advocating the use of Marbelite, because, when this boulevard is finally equipped with these standards we believe that we will have one of the most wonderful business arteries in the world."

Production of Shoe Shows Big Decrease

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—Shoe production of the United States fell off at least 18,600,000 pairs in the first four months, as compared with the similar period of 1923. This apparently has been due to the drop in domestic consumption. England's shoe trade, local manufacturers say, is much improved and this is finding a reflection here in increased orders for goat leathers. Pennsylvania shoe factories are buying shoe leathers on a basis of 40 to 44 cents for steer backs.

New Orleans Shipping Figures Show Gains

NEW ORLEANS, June 24.—Custom house receipts show 259 ships entered this port last month. Two hundred and sixty-four vessels with a tonnage of 596,000 cleared for other ports. These figures, a big increase over March or April, was due to increased shipments in the inter-coastal trade.

Three States Report Splendid Rice Crops

NEW ORLEANS, June 24.—The rice crop of Texas, Arkansas, and Louisiana, is in excellent condition, according to reports to the agricultural department. The market is strong because supplies are the lightest in years, totalling, on June 1, about 430,000 pockets of 100 pounds each as compared with 1,344,000 on August 1, 1923.

More Farm Laborers For Michigan Harvest

DETROIT, June 24.—There has been a remarkable change in the status of the farm labor situation in Michigan, due to slowing down of the automobile industry. The ratio of supply to demand has advanced from 85 per cent, April 1, to 89 per cent, May 1, to 98 per cent.

LEADERS BATTLE OVER DELEGATES

Lineup Changes and Fight Continues; Dark Horses Are Being Groomed

selves definitely in any direction but aiming to cast their support where it will stand the best chance of being rewarded by the winning candidate if he should be fortunate in the autumn elections.

Some of the anti-McAdoo leaders can show on paper that they have more than one-third of the delegates assured to prevent McAdoo's nomination, but it would appear that the coalition is not as strong as it was four years ago in San Francisco, as the leadership of the anti-McAdoo forces is not yet functioning smoothly.

Hope For Big Showing

There are ever so many delegates who will wait to see which McAdoo can cross the majority mark before giving him any support, and the effort of the McAdoo managers just now is to make as big a showing on the first five ballots as possible so as to keep the anti-McAdoo forces from becoming too strong. In order to do this, the word has been passed that if McAdoo should be eliminated he would cast his strength in this or that direction. A number of the states which have favorite sons are being kept in line by such tactics. Indeed, the McAdoo forces are establishing an entente with every state they can in the hope at least of preventing the Smith vote from ever passing McAdoo.

A recognition of psychological factors and a skillful handling of delegates can change any preconceived plan and can even defeat logic. The McAdoo camp has in it many able generals who know Democratic politics from A to Z.

McAdoo Can Deadlock

Many of his delegates are last ditch men. And, while it may be true that one third group has been organized to defeat McAdoo, it is also true that McAdoo can deadlock the convention by a one third group of his own before yielding. Should the McAdoo boom collapse after several ballots, one promise to which McAdoo men testify, is that Senator Glass of Virginia would be favored. Glass is acquiring much strength in this respect especially as many anti-McAdoo men have been talking of John W. Davis so much that the West Virginian may truly be said to be a strong third. To weaken the McAdoo votes, the anti-McAdoo scouts are whispering praise of Davis.

In fact it looks now as if the opposition to McAdoo may even try to crush him by starting the balloting for Davis early enough to bring him up close to the former secretary of the treasury and even perhaps permitting him to pass McAdoo.

Davis is not an active candidate here but he is being used as a weapon of attack. He has the strong and disinterested support of several delegations, but this is one of the reasons why he is being held by the anti-McAdoo forces as a means of disintegrating the McAdoo boom. There is a good deal of genuine sentiment for Davis in the ranks of the McAdoo followers, a fact which the opponents of McAdoo have been quick to capitalize.

William Jennings Bryan is opposed to Davis on the ground that he has been an attorney for the Morgan interests. But this, as well as the oil issue, have been temporarily overshadowed by the Ku Klux Klan controversy. The forces opposed to McAdoo insist he has the support of the Klan and since he has not specifically repudiated the Klan, the opposition to McAdoo is thereby gaining strength for unquestionably this convention is anti-Ku Klux Klan and will not truckle to get its support.

President of Realtors Is Back From Trip

Hanson investigated real estate conditions in Salt Lake, Chicago, New York, New Haven, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee and Minneapolis, and in every one of them, he asserts, his faith in the future of California was strengthened by the comparison that these centers afforded with the Pacific coast.

Mr. Hanson will, he declares, deliver the complete report of the convention at the annual picnic of the local board that is to be held Saturday in the new city park at Rossmore, plans for this feature of the program having already been tentatively adopted by the program committee. He will also discuss the Optimists' convention at the weekly luncheon on Friday in the Alley Inn.

Delinquent Tax List Largest in History

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—The Los Angeles Daily Journal, official county publication, has appeared with the annual delinquent tax list taking a total of 130 printed pages of the newspaper. It is the largest list on record, it is claimed, due to the dulling of the real estate market and the abandonment of many oil tracts in the county.

Ambitious to Become Detective, Is Jailed

SAN PEDRO, June 24.—Margery Dawson went to jail and several police officers went to the cleaners when the alleged 19-year-old vampire proceeded to plaster them with the contents of ink-wells at the Los Angeles harbor police station. Margery wanted to be a detective, she told the officers, although she has been working as a waitress in Oakland until recently.

Sawyer Able to Play In Game Next Sunday

Carl Sawyer, manager of the Glendale White Sox, who was hit on the right arm by a pitched ball in the eighth inning of the game Sunday against the Pacific Fleet All-Stars, will be able to play Sunday, according to word from Frank Kerwin, owner of the club. It was first thought Sawyer's arm had been broken but an X-ray taken yesterday failed to reveal any fracture. He will be under a doctor's care most of the week, it is said.

Mouday was in the box for the Fleet All-Stars at the time of the accident. He hurled a fast one toward the plate, which broke in, catching Sawyer before he could dodge it. Sawyer has been injured a number of times during the last two years while playing ball.

Kerwin is seeking a good club as the White Sox opponents for next Sunday, when an attempt will be made to annex Consecutive Win No. 20. The team for the next game will be announced tomorrow.

SLEEP—No. 2

Last week and the week before we had three papers on insomnia and yesterday we had our first paper on sleep. I'll review the paper on sleep.

There are several theories as to the cause and nature of sleep. According to Collins, they are as follows: There is a lessening of the volume and velocity of the blood in the brain; the contact between the nerve filaments is broken during sleep; sleep is of a chemical nature; the biological theory—sleep is instinctive.

The amount of sleep necessary evidently varies. It is generally considered that eight hours of sleep is a normal amount, but many thrive on less. However, this combined sleep and rest in bed is a good working rule. Children need and must have from nine to twelve hours. We can sleep too much, when lassitude and stupidity result. Now go on with the story:

Q.—What causes sleepiness during the daytime?

Ans.—Lack of sleep at night; hearty meals during which the much blood is attracted to the digestive organs; auto-intoxication with its poisonous effects upon the nerve centers; general anemia; overweight, especially if it is due to a lack of thyroid or pituitary secretion (perhaps one out of 100 cases of extreme weight is due to this).

Q.—Is it wise to eat anything at all before going to sleep?

Ans.—Yes, if hungry, for hunger will cause sleeplessness. A bowl of hot soup or a glass of hot milk can be taken, or some similar light food. Those who are reducing often find that they have difficulty in going to sleep unless they leave 50 to 100 calories of their allotted number for the day, to be taken at bedtime.

Q.—What is the best position to sleep in?

Ans.—The right side is considered perhaps the most favorable for the heart, and in this position also favors the emptying of the stomach, should it be necessary. In general, it can be said the position that is most comfortable is the best position to sleep in. Nightmares and snoring are more apt to come on while one is lying flat on the back. It seems to be wisest to sleep on one side part of the night and on the other side the rest of the night. It has been recommended to those who have weak abdominal muscles and gas that they sleep on the abdomen.

Q.—Is it wise to sleep out of doors in cold climates?

Young Housewife: "What shall I use for broiling chops, steaks, and so forth, on a gas range?"

Answer: There are some very good broilers on the market today which are made of iron or other metal and intended to be used on gas and kerosene stoves over direct flame; they are made with a corrugated base on which the chops or steaks are laid, then covered with a rather high-sided cover to keep the steam in. The corrugated bottom is simply put over the flame like any pot or kettle (not in the case of a gas burner) and catches the juices from the meat. Ask your hardware dealer to get you one of these if he does not carry them in his ordinary stock.

Reader: Is there any way of taking rain spots out of a taffeta hat?

Answer: Sometimes this can be done by holding the material over the spout of a boiling teakettle, so that it is all uniformly steamed. But I would advise you to experiment on a small sample of taffeta before going ahead with the hat itself, as various dyes give different results.

Mrs. O. J.: "The enclosed recipe is one which has proven a great favorite with my family, and I feel sure some of your other readers would like it: Maple Walnut Tapioca Pudding: Put in the top of your double boiler one pint of hot milk, a pinch of salt, two-thirds of a cup of maple sirup, and one-third cup of minute tapioca; cook for fifteen minutes, stirring frequently. Then add the beaten yolk of one egg, stir for three minutes, cool, and add two heaping tablespoons of finely-chopped walnut meats. Use no sugar. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg white and decorate with more chopped nut meats (in all use two-thirds of a cup of chopped walnuts). Serve cold with either plain or whipped cream."

Answer: Thank you, Reader Friend. I also have other recipes from readers (many of which

Ans.—Yes. The only precaution is to be sure you are dressed warmly enough. If you ever have slept out of doors, you know that sleep indoors, no matter how good the ventilation is, seems a makeshift. The refreshment that comes from outdoor sleeping is so superior, there is no comparison.

If you can arrange to sleep out of doors, do so. You will never regret it. During cold weather, you must see that you have some night clothes on, and that you have sufficient bed clothes to keep you warm. It would be well to wear a warm night cap also. Sleeping cold would nullify the good effects of outdoor sleeping.

During sleep, the respiration and blood velocity are lessened. The temperature is lowered, the secretions are lessened (except that of the skin). The blood pressure is also lowered during sleep.

These are the reasons you must be warmly covered. Children and babies (say after six months), as well as adults, are markedly benefited by outdoor sleeping. If you cannot sleep out of doors, place your bed at an open window.

Q.—Is it wise to sleep after a hearty meal?

Ans.—No, it is not. The muscular activity of the stomach is retarded during sleep. Because of this, the food is retained too long and hyperacidity may be the result. Lying down, without sleeping, however, does not lessen the activity of the stomach, but, rather, causes a better digestion. Eating hearty meals at night is undoubtedly the cause of some intestinal disturbances. Sleep does not interfere with the intestinal digestion, but, apparently, it does with stomach digestion.

ANSWERED LETTERS

G. E. S.—Massage the ankles daily to reduce them. If you wear high heeled shoes, especially the high French heels, your ankles will become enlarged, because you will be straining them in order to bear all the weight of the body. In that case you will have to change to a shoe with a heel of medium height and continue with the massage.

B. C. G.—You probably need a tonic for the lashes. I will be glad to mail you the formula for one if you request it and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing.

Bunny K.—If you keep your hair short and trim off as much as possible every other week, I think the natural shade will be established by the time you wish to go without a hat in the summer.

You can get a hard water soap to use when bathing in very strong salt water, but you will not need very much soap, for the bath salts are cleansing. In making salt water for the bath for the first time you can test it by dropping a little on the end of tongue. If it is pleasantly salty you have the right strength. Evidently you used too much salt for the amount of water.

B. B.—Benzoin, or a toilet vinegar, is used for astringent purposes. You can soften water for bathing by adding bran. Your skin will recover if you stop using the cosmetics you mention and take a full hot bath every day.

Betty—Peroxide is a good bleach for superfluous hair. H. A. P.—Flaxen gold hair usually changes to a light shade of brown after adult age.

If you play tennis this summer it will improve your figure, as you will have all the exercises you need to reduce the abdomen, hips, back and chest.

Mrs. E. W.—I should not think that your unusually fine head of hair would have anything to do with your poor health; it is rather an indication of physical strength. It would help you very much if you could get interested in some pleasant light employment, as your letter shows that you are thinking a great deal about your lack of strength.

Sleep outdoors if possible. Plant a small flower garden and work in that during all the coming season. Stop working as soon as you feel tired, but return to it when you have recovered strength. After a few months of this kind of effort, unless there is something seriously wrong with you, you will find that your weight and strength have returned.

Tomorrow—Beautifying Outdoor Fads

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Fads" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. Reply by personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Five Thousand Will Gather Tuna Catch

SAN PEDRO, June 24.—California depends not alone on the "tourist crop" in the good old summer months. Neither do the films furnish the only occupation for the industrious. Nor do the oranges, nor wines, nor building, nor fruit, nor farming. There will be 5000 people and 700 boats in southland waters during the tuna season which has just started. Headquarters are here.

Fruit and Vegetable Shipments Increase

ATLANTA, June 24.—Fruit and vegetable movements from the southern states are one third heavier than ever before. More than 600,000 carloads have been shipped to date with about one half of production still to be marketed according to the Atlanta Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Prices have been uniformly good. President Markham of the Illinois Central, now on a trip in this territory, said today that the magnitude of the fruit and vegetable interests had astonished him and given him a new idea of the possibilities of this section from the point of view of diversified farming. Mid June has brought nothing more alarming than a seasonal slackening in trade and in some lines even this slump is absent. There is record buying in summer goods and vacation outfits.

Northwest Business Prosperity Is Shown

SEATTLE, June 24.—There is no evidence of inflation of business here but tourist traffic is yielding expected results. A measure of prosperity in this district is found in the clearing house receipts report which, with five banks missing because of consolidations, exceeded all previous records for the first half of June. Quick turnover of merchandise is held responsible, together with the volume of intercoastal lumber shipments. For the first time since 1921 there is a surplus of labor on the Pacific coast. More than 20,000 workers in lumber camps have been released. Many of these men have found jobs on highway and railroad construction at wages of better than $4 a day, from which $1.65 for shelter, blankets and food is subtracted.

Suspend Construction On Wyoming Railroad

DENVER, June 24.—Construction work on the Wyoming North and South Railroad projected from Casper, Wyo., to Miles City, Mont., has been suspended. It is indicated difficulty in securing additional financing dictated this move. About $3,000,000 has already been expended and 47 per cent of the route graded.

Massachusetts Auto Registrations Grow

BOSTON, Mass., June 24.—There have been 449,902 passenger automobiles registered in Massachusetts to date this year compared with 336,882 in 1923, an increase of 24 per cent.

SEEKS CHANGE IN RULE ON PARKING

Petition Signed by Business Men Sent to Council
In Los Angeles

EAGLE ROCK, June 24.—A petition asking for parallel parking on Eagle Rock boulevard has been brought before the Los Angeles City Council by Sol Gans and his associates. The petition contains the signatures of many leading local business men. One of the signers is Edwin Baker, a member of the Council, who lives at 5205 Rockland avenue. The petition has been referred to the public safety committee.

Leading up to this petition was the sensational appearance, not long ago, of a series of white lines on Eagle Rock boulevard, indicating at what angle cars should park. Investigation revealed that they had been put there by Mr. Gans, et al, in "the wee sma' hours."

Although Captain White of the Lincoln Heights division of the Los Angeles police department and Lieutenant Ross of this station called upon Sol Gans the morning following the discovery that more than a score of machines were parked diagonally on either side of the boulevard, no action was instituted against the "painters," except that they were requested to paint over the white lines with black, and instructed to bring a petition before the City Council.

Sol Gans and his "accessory to the fact," agreed, Mr. Gans expressing determination to leave no stone unturned until the will of the majority of the business men in regard to parking should be satisfied.

Entertains at Lunch

Mrs. Laura F. Eddy of Hermosa Beach, formerly of Eagle Rock, entertained a group of prominent society leaders of this district at luncheon at the Mary Louise Saturday, followed by a theatre party at the Los Angeles playhouse, where Pauline Frederick is now starring. The guests included Mrs. Mary Hickson, Mrs.
Alice Winters, Miss Edna Heileger and her sister, Mrs. Arthur Genn.

Mrs. Essie Davis Koen, who was taken to the hospital two weeks ago, due to a sudden attack of appendicitis, has returned to her home and is reported to be so much improved that she will be able to resume her duties as teacher in the Eagle Rock school until the semester ends. It was first feared that an operation would be found necessary.

POLICE FORCE TO BE REORGANIZED

Four Men Leave Department,
Chief Long Selecting
Their Successors

BURBANK, June 24.—The Burbank police department is being reorganized by Chief John H.
Long. Recently four members of the force have left and new men are being carefully selected.

About two weeks ago Wm. E.
Gates, motorcycle sergeant, and a member of the department for about five years, offered his resignation, which was accepted.
Shortly before that, Charles Butler, night desk man, who had been on the force for about five months, was asked to resign, and yesterday morning W. S. Richardson and O. Strickland, both motorcycle officers, resigned. The former was on the force under George Cole, then was off for a time and was taken on again about a year ago. Strickland had not been employed but about three months.

Speaking of these resignations, Chief Long states that it was his intention to have every man on the force do his duty and give to the taxpayers the full time and service for which they were paid.

Chief Long intends to gather a capable, diplomatic and efficient force, he states, saying that while he has some candidates in mind,
they will be subjected to a thorough examination in several ways,
as to their fitness.

INVITE REALTORS TO VISIT HARBOR

Members of San Pedro Board
Anxious to Show Off
District's Progress

A cordial invitation to any and all realty boards of the state to visit San Pedro and the wonderful harbor district is extended by the San Pedro Realty Board through the California Real Estate Association.

The West Hollywood Board, 120 strong, accepted the invitation of the San Pedro board and were the guests of that organization on a day of sight seeing in the great harbor of the Southwest.

The development of the harbor
was explained, a visit to the U. S.
S. California, where they were received as guests of the admiral of the fleet, and a three-hour ride touching all points of interest, together with a splendid chicken dinner, was enjoyed by the West Hollywood board.

President McConnell, of the San Pedro Realty Board, is most anxious to have the realty boards acquaint themselves with the prosperity at the main outlet of the Southwest's increasing commerce, and offers the same generous invitation to any board in California desiring to take advantage of the opportunity to know better the conditions of the harbor and surrounding territory.

By writing to the San Pedro Realty Board arrangements may be made for such a tour.

The Case of Jennie Brice Serial Story

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART. Copyright, 1924.

CHAPTER XXVI
"No, but that would be easily concealed."

"Just what do you mean?"
"Many actresses conceal defects. She could have worn flesh-colored plaster and covered it with powder. Also, such a scar would not necessarily be seen."

"Explain that."
"Most of Jennie Brice's décollete gowns were cut to a point. This would conceal such a scar." Miss Hope was excused, and Jennie Brice's sister from Olean was called. She was a smaller woman than Jennie Brice had been, very lady-like in her manner. She said she was married and living in Olean; she had not seen her sister for several years, but had heard from her often. The witness had discouraged the marriage to the prisoner.

"Why?"
"She had had bad luck before."
"She had been married before?"

"Yes, to a man named John Bellows. They were in vaudeville together, on the Keith Circuit. They were known as The Pair of Bellos."
"I sat up at this for John Bellows had boarded at my house."
"Mr. Bellows is dead?"

"I think not. She divorced him."

"Did you know of any near on your sister's body?"

"I never heard of one."

"Have you seen the body found at Sewickley?"

"Yes"—faintly.

"Can you identify it?"

"No, sir."

A flurry was caused during the afternoon by Timothy Sentt. He testified to what I already knew—that between three and four on Monday morning, during the height of the flood, he had seen from his shanty-boat a small skiff caught in the current near the Ninth Street bridge. He had shouted encouragingly to the man in the boat, running out a way on the ice to make him hear. He had told him to row with the current, and to try to steer in toward shore. He had followed close to the river bank in his own boat. Below Sixth Street the other boat was within rope-throwing distance. He had pulled it in, and had towed it well back out of the current. The man in the boat was the prisoner. Asked if the prisoner gave any explanation, he said he couldn't sleep, and had thought to tire himself rowing. Had been caught in the current before he knew it. Saw nothing suspicious in or about the boat. As they passed the police patrol boat, prisoner had called to ask if there was much distress, and expressed regret when told there was.

Tim was excused. He had made a profound impression. I would not have given a dollar for Mr. Ladley's chance with the jury, at that time.

The prosecution produced many witnesses during the next two days. Shanty-boat Tim's story withstood the most vigorous cross-examination. After him, Mr. Bronson from the theater corroborated Miss Hope's story of Jennie Brice's attack of hysteria in the dressing-room, and told of taking her home that night.

He was a poor witness, nervous and halting. He weighed each word before he said it, and he made a generally unfavorable impression. I thought he was holding something back. In view of what Mr. Pitman would have called the denouement, his attitude is easily explained. But I was puzzled then.

So far, the prosecution had touched but lightly on the possible motive for a crime—the woman. But on the third day, to my surprise, a Mrs. Agnes Murray was called. It was the Mrs. Murray I had seen at the morgue.

I have lost the clipping of that day's trial, but I remember her testimony perfectly.

She was a widow, living above a small millinery shop on Federal Street, Allegheny. She had one daughter, Alice, who did stenography and typing as a means of livelihood. She had no office, and worked at home. Many of the small stores in the neighborhood employed her to send out their bills. There was a card at the street entrance beside the shop, and now and then strangers brought her work.

Early in December the prisoner had brought her the manuscript of a play to type, and from that time on he came frequently, sometimes every day, bringing a few sheets of manuscript at a time. Sometimes he came without any manuscript, and would sit and talk while he smoked a cigarette. They had thought him unmarried.

On Wednesday, February twenty-eighth, Alice Murray had disappeared. She had taken some of her clothing—not all, and had left a note. The witness read the note aloud in a trembling voice:

"Dear Mother: When you get this I shall be married to Mr. Ladley. Don't worry. Will write again from N. Y. Lovingly, ALICE."

From that time until a week before, she had not heard from her daughter. Then she had a card, mailed from Madison Square

Views and Theatres News Notes

Compiled by Members of The Evening News Staff

"It's a Boy" is proving just as popular as its predecessors at the tent of Murphy's Comedians on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, between Brand boulevard and Stocker avenue.

In the east, "It's a Boy" proved an outstanding hit and played to crowded houses. It is expected to prove the most popular play that Murphy's Comedians have yet put on. The curtain rises promptly at 8 o'clock each night, although those who wish front seats will find the doors open at 7:15 o'clock.

It will appear at the Morisco theatre, Los Angeles, in August, according to Manager J. A. Menard of Murphy's Comedians, and is now being presented for the first time on the Pacific coast.

Station, New York City. The card merely said:

"Am well and working. ALICE."

The defense was visibly shaken. They had not expected this, and I thought even Mr. Ladley, whose calm had continued unbroken, paled.

So far, all had gone well for the prosecution. They had proved a crime, as nearly as circumstantial evidence could prove a crime, and they had established a motive. But in the identification of the body, so far they had failed.

The prosecution "rested," as they say, although they didn't rest much, on the afternoon of the third day.

The defense called, first of all, Eliza Shaeffer. She told of a woman answering the general description of Jennie Brice having spent two days at the Shaeffer farm at Horner. Being shown photographs of Jennie Brice, she said she thought it was the same woman, but was not certain. She told further of the woman leaving unexpectedly on Wednesday of that week from Thornville. On cross-examination, being shown the small photograph which Mr. Graves had shown me, she identified the woman in the group as being the woman in question. As the face was in shadow, knew it more by the dress and hat; she described the black and white dress and the hat with red trimming.

The defense then called me. I had to admit that the dress and hat as described were almost certainly the ones I had seen on the bed in Jennie Brice's room the day before she disappeared. I could not say definitely whether the woman in the photograph was Jennie Brice or not; under a magnifying-glass thought it might be.

"ALICE."

From that time until a week before, she had not heard from her daughter. Then she had a card, mailed from Madison Square

"Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," with Mary Pickford, shows at the Gateway theatre for the last times today. Wednesday only "Tiger Love" is the feature.

HOXIE DARING CHANCES

Hack Hoxie, Universal star, has started work on his latest western feature, "Daring Chances." Cliff Smith, the other main factor of the Hoxie-Smith unit, is directing. The supporting cast includes Alta Allen, Catherine Wallace, Genevieve Knapp, Claude Payton and others. The script calls for much spectacular riding, and has a strong love interest.

OWNS UNIQUE HOME

Norman Kerry, now appearing in the all star filming of Kathleen Norris' "Butterfly," has the distinction of owning one of very few structures of its kind in the United States. It is a low, rambling house of peculiar design, built entirely of Hawaiian timbers throughout, imported at a cost of time and trouble. The most unusual feature of the construction is the Oriental process of "pegging" the timbers together. There is not a nail in the building, not even in the woodwork or bookcases; everything is joined with wooden pegs.

NEW FAT MAN

Fatty Moon, Hollywood's new 350 lb. laugh-producer of the movies was formerly a European actor of considerable renown and successfully appeared in many of their leading attractions, such as the English opera "Nessus," the old Danish drama "Tommeliden," by Hans Christian Andersen, author of the famous Anderson's Fairy Tales, "Udskuldi Dumt," a Danish drama, and many others. During that period of his career he supported on the legitimate such celebrities as Swartz Nelson, Sofus Numan, Olga Meyer and Ada Nielsen. Fatty Moon will be featured in a five-reel comedy.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AT THE SPRING

One day the Woosie Wolf went to visit the Fuzzy Fox, who lived in a deep, dark, dismal den far in the woods. The Wolf saw the Fox picking leaves off a mulberry tree and pasting the leaves all over himself with sticky gum from the pine tree.

"What in the world are you doing, Mr. Fox?" asked the Wolf, as he watched the Fox stick a leaf on the end of his bushy tail.

"I am going to play a trick on Uncle Wiggily," answered the Fox.

"Ho! Ho!" laughed the Wolf. "It seems to me that you are playing a trick on yourself more than on the rabbit gentleman—for I must say Uncle Wiggily is a gentleman, even if we can't catch him. The trick is on you, I should say."

"Oh, no," chuckled the Fox. "You'll see, and I'll be perfectly pasted a leaf behind his right ear. 'May I ask what you are going to do?' snapped the Wolf. 'I don't see how covering yourself with leaves is going to catch Uncle Wiggily. I suppose that's what you are going to try to do?' he asked.

"Yes," replied the Fox. "This time I'll catch the rabbit. You see I am pasting leaves on myself so I will look like a bush. When I have covered myself with leaves, all but the middle of my eyes, I am going to hide beside the woodland path along which Uncle Wiggily will hop to his hollow stump bungalow."

"When he comes along, twinkling his pink nose as he always does, he will not see me. Or, if he does see me he will think I'm just a bunch of leaves. Thus he will come close to me. I'll jump up, catch hold of him and drag him off to my den. Then you may come and I'll let you nibble one of his ears. Don't you think I am smart?"

"Yes, you are very smart, Mr. Fox," said the Wolf. "But when are you going to play this trick on Uncle Wiggily?"

"Right away," barked the Fox. He finished sticking leaves all over himself and the Wolf had to admit that the Fox looked just like an old bush. Then the Wolf went to sleep in the den of the Fox, and the Fox hid himself beside the woodland path along which Uncle Wiggily would soon hop on his way to the hollow stump bungalow.

Now, as it happened, Uncle Wiggily had been visiting his friend, Uncle Butter, the goat gentleman, that afternoon. Aunt Lettie, the goat lady, had given Uncle Wiggily and Uncle Butter some lettuce sandwiches, but by mistake, she had put on too much salt.

"Oh! How thirsty these sandwiches make me!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"I'm so sorry!" bleated Aunt Lettie.

"Oh, it doesn't in the least matter," spoke the rabbit. "The thirstier I am the more water I shall drink and water is good for me. Really, I'm glad you put on too much salt."

Soon after that Uncle Wiggily said good-bye to his goat friend and started to hop to his bungalow. But half way there he was so thirsty that he had to stop at a brook and get a drink of water. Then the rabbit hopped on a little farther and, all of a sudden, he saw what he thought was a bunch of leaves beside the path. "Oh! ho!" cried Uncle Wiggily in his jolly way. "Watch me jump over that pile of leaves!"

There was really no one there to watch Uncle Wiggily jump over the leaves—at least, he thought no one was there—but he just spoke that way for fun. He took a little run, gave a jump, and he would have leaped over the pile of leaves if the leaves hadn't risen up in the air and caught the rabbit as he jumped.

For the leaves were those stuck on the Fox, and he looked so much like a bunch of bushes that he fooled even Uncle Wiggily.

"Ah, ha! I have you!" cried the Fox. "You jumped right into my trap, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Oh, dear!" sighed the bunny. "I am surely caught this time."

"Yes, and I am going to take you to my den!" snarled the Fox. So he began to lead the bunny along through the woods. All at once the Fox saw a lettuce sandwich sticking out of the rabbit's pocket. It was one Aunt Lettie had given Mr. Longears to take home with him.

"I'll just eat this lettuce sandwich," laughed the Fox. "It will give me a good appetite to nibble your ears." So he ate the sandwich, though he cried out: "Oh, how salty it is! Gurr! I must get a drink."

"There is a nice deep, cool spring of water over there," said Uncle Wiggily, pointing toward a pine tree. "You can get a drink there. I am thirsty myself from eating salty lettuce sandwiches. I, too, would like a drink."

"Well, I'm going to drink first," growled the Fox, impatiently. So when they reached the deep, cold spring of water in the woods at the foot of the pine tree the Fox knelt down on the edge and most thirstily began to lap up water with his red tongue.

Uncle Wiggily stood behind the Fox. Suddenly the rabbit thought of a trick.

"In you go, Mr. Fox!" cried Uncle Wiggily. He gave the bad chap a hard push. Into the spring splashed the Fox, head over heels. Oh, what a splash he made. "Ha, ha!" laughed Mr. Longears. "Drink all you please, Mr. Fox! Drink all you please! I'll wait until I get home to quench my thirst."

Leaving the Fox floundering, splashing and spluttering in the spring, the rabbit gentleman ran safely home to Nurse Jane.

"Oh, you're a smart Fox you are—very smart!" sneered the Wolf, when, an hour later, the Fox, dripping wet, came slinking home. "Ha! ha! You're so smart."

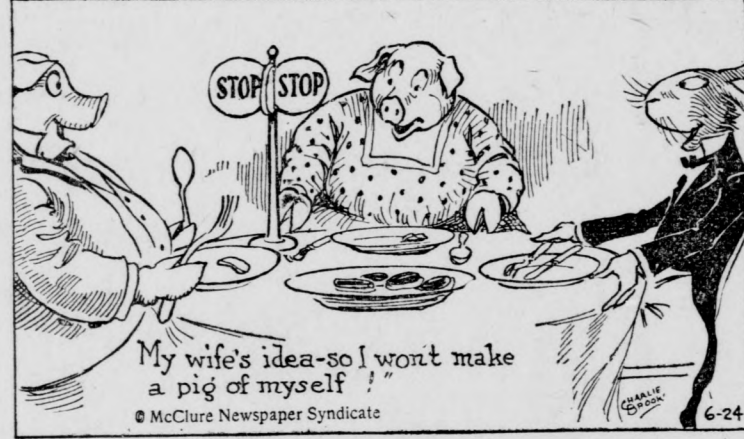

"Don't talk to me!" growled the Fox. "But I'll catch that rabbit yet, you see if I don't!" However, if the apple pie doesn't hide in the bread box when the rice pudding wants it to play tag, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's clean shirt.

BEAT THE PLAYERS TIGERS FOR WEEK

Angels Will Battle Bees at Salt Lake; Indian Boss
Draws $20 Fine

By BEN McGUIRE
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, June 24.—The Portland Beavers invaded Los Angeles today for a seven-game series with the Vernon Tigers. The Tigers will be handicapped by the injury of Charley Deal, third sacker, who pulled some Hammen Sunday while trying to stop the Angels' winning streak. Deal had been going a great pace, his timely hitting spelling defeat for the Angels three times in the past series. Kimmick will take his place in the lineup.
"Lefty" Thomas is Manager Eslick's choice for today's game.

Two days' suspension and twenty berths' fine were meted out on Red Killefer, Seattle manager, for his abusive language toward Umpire Ed Finnegan at Stockton Sunday. Such was the ruling of Prexy Williams last night, after considering the case.

Marty Krug and his Angelic tribe have trocked to Salt Lake to do battle with the Mormons, and incidentally avoid the razz, berries the fans were handing them at home. The vacation should do the home team a world of good.

SPORT WISDOM

By WALTER CAMP
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924
NEW YORK, June 24.—Some of America's best golfers have begun experimenting with deeper faced drivers, although they have not gone so far as Major Gillies, the British golfer who has been working with a deeper faced club and a tee a foot or more in height. Jones, Hagen and others, however, realized that Major Gillies was taking a step in the right direction; that it is possible to get a lower half into the wind by use of a moderately high tee and a deep faced club than with the thinner faced drivers which tend to shoot more under the ball. Both Hagen and Jones are said to be getting better results under the new system.

Development of the larger headed club has come from the first from England. The writer will remember crossing on the steamer with a couple of Englishmen who brought the first of the so-called dreadnoughts to this country. At that time they looked very weird, but practically everybody uses them now in some form or another.

Golf is having a hard time these days. Besides the argument over Bob Zuppke's statement that golf was developing "chump craft and cussers," we have the criticism by a Presbyterian assembly that the game is an enemy of religion because it keeps 100,000 caddies from Sunday school. As a matter of fact, many golf clubs have a rule forbidding caddies on Sunday while others allow them only in the afternoon. The number of Sunday working caddies probably is far under 100,000.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924
NEW YORK, June 24.—Tex Rickard, who has been thinking so hard since the Wills-Madden bout that his sparsely thatched dome aches, has at last come to a decision. Here is the decision—he has decided to try Wills out on the 4th day of July, 1924, at the Madison Square Garden. While he does not say who the opponent will be, the writer believes he is in a position to pick the lucky—or unlucky—guy. He is Jack Renault. Now he will get a bid to step in the ring to demonstrate whether Harry is a candidate for the old gentlemen's home or for the heavyweight title of the universe.

About seven months ago Renault was eager to knock Wills' block off, but later changed his mind and said he wanted to accumulate more experience. While he has had only one or two bouts since then, he seems to think he has all the experience necessary. Either that or Harry's showing against Madden gave him more encouragement than he could have acquired from a shot in the arm from a hypo filled with some nerve tickling dope.

Anyway, Leo Flynn, his manager, has been filling the air with stories as to what would have happened had Renault been in Madden's shoes at the Queensboro arena the other night. So now the chances look to be that Rickard will call him and see whether or not he holds a pat hand or is bluffing on a pair.

If the Floyd Johnson-Balsa fight ever gets into the movies it will probably be entitled "Blood and Resin." The alleged Spanish champ lasted a little longer against Floyd than most folks expected. He went three rounds, expected the crowd howled for the referee to stop the slaughter. As a knocker-out of foreign hogs, Johnson is getting to be a terror.

BASEBALL QUESTION BOX

If you have some question to ask about baseball—write John B. Foster, the man who helped make the rules under which the game is played today. If you want a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Otherwise your question will be answered in this column.

Address: John B. Foster, Special Baseball Correspondent of The Evening News, 811 World Building, New York.

QUESTION.—Dear Sir: I am making a home run have to touch every base. ANSWER.—He does.

QUESTION.—One out. Bases full. Batter hits a home run. He scores. Are the runners ahead of him out? ANSWER.—They are not.

QUESTION.—In the last half of the ninth inning with the score 12 to 10, the losing team puts up the best batters in succession in an effort to win, but not in their regular batting order. Is this pinch hitting or does it have to be players who have never been playing during the game?

ANSWER.—It is not pinch hitting if the players had been in the game, if they did not bat in regular order and if they should have done the same one out if his attention was called to it.

QUESTION.—The pitcher puts one foot in the box facing the batter, throw to the batter, but throws to first and gets a runner starting for second. Is this balk? ANSWER.—This is a balk. It must be a personal judgment of the umpire and it is proper to say that there is a wide variance of judgment.

Doyle's Main Event Is Salvatore and Farren

Phil Salvatore and Frankie Farren, both favorites with coast fight fans, will furnish the main event at Doyle's Vernon arena tonight. Young Datto and Tommy Carter are billed for the semi-main event. Nick Newman, Kansas City lightweight, will meet Fred Sullivan in the feature preliminary bout. K. O. Kelly has been substituted by Matchmaker Hayden Wadham for Billy Young. Manny Kaplan and Benny Demske will do four rounds at 160 pounds. Sailor Zedick and Jack Doran are billed at 165 pounds, while Scotty Diest and Jimmy Lavant round out the card.

ASK REVISION OF SCORING SYSTEM

American Olympic Officials
To Request Federation
To Change Plans

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

ON BOARD S. S. AMERICA, WITH AMERICAN OLYMPIC TEAM, June 24.—(By Radio).—At a meeting of the American Olympic officials, it was decided to request the Olympic Federation to revise the scoring system as follows:

To limit the scoring to the number of entries permitted in each event, namely four.

The scoring to be on the basis of five for a first, three for a second, two for a third and one for a fourth.

Make Request Friday

The American request will be brought up at a meeting of the federation Friday.

There is still uncertainty about placing Watson and Waters.

Some officials favor running Water in both the 800 and 1500 meters, and Waters in the shorter race.

The team will have its final work out aboard ship today.

DOPE FROM DUGOUT

By JOHN F. FOSTER
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, June 24.—The current east and west invasions of the National and the American leagues are over—and they end with little solace for any club except the Cubs.

The Cubs streaked out in front like a comet. No club in either league took hold of the situation and handled it more effectively.

In fact, the Cubs monopolized the handling except in Brooklyn, where they found their menace of other years. The Detroit Tigers, on their own field, flattered.

They were knocked from their equisipe by the manner in which the Yanks came back at them after being soundly thrashed in the first game of the series. Yet a harder jolt than that was handed the Detroit hopefuls by Washington, and the fact that they could do no better than break even with Philadelphia was no cause for hilarity.

Cleveland has been snorting around to much better advantage than Detroit has in recent days. The Indians have been the only eastern team that has been playing in strictly championship form on this invasion from the east. But Cleveland has got back to batting again, and its pitchers are showing more than they had been doing.

The Indians helped themselves to four games from Washington, and Washington won three games of the series with Detroit.

GIRL LURE FOR
BANDITS, CLAIMTakes Poison When Caught
But Will Not Die,
Doctors Declare

By GIL A. COWAN

For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, June 24.—A wan face peering out from under the covers of snow white bed clothes of a narrow iron hospital bed in the Los Angeles General hospital this morning—
A girl in her early teens wondering at this world of tears and trouble and trials which may yet end in death which she sought—
That is a word picture of Geraldine McGowan, 17, and pretty, the daughter of Charles McGowan, wealthy retired furniture manufacturer, who is a resident of Pasadena.

For she is the asserted queen of a boy bandit gang that operated in Glendale and Burbank under the leadership of Norman McCrea, one-time police chauffeur in Los Angeles, who, it is alleged, lured Geraldine and two girl companions away from El Retiro, a sectarian school in the San Fernando valley.

Other Victims
Although she is said to have registered at a hotel with McCrea under an assumed name, it is Geraldine's plea that she did not know her "Prince Charming" was a literal Fagin who was using her and other girls as a lure to start Glendale and Burbank youths on a career of crime.

Olive Barfig, aged 15, is in juvenile hall, having been "dropped" by McCrea, it is said, when she almost "got wise" to his alleged crooked work. The county authorities are searching for Mamie Stevens, aged 16, also "turned loose" at the beach.

To Geraldine, however, was left the cup of despair when she was arrested in McCrea's room at Burbank. She succeeded in escaping the police for a few minutes Saturday afternoon, only to be recaptured in a Burbank alley. Then she drank the contents of a poison vial when placed in jail. But she is expected to survive.

Last October she was caught in a "love nest" at Long Beach with Paul Trimble, police records show.

Well Known Merchant
Is Claimed by Death

TUJUNGA, June 24.—Charles J. Bloore, well-known Tujunga dry goods merchant of 135 West Michigan avenue, died at his home Saturday morning, June 21, 1924, after an illness extending over a long period. He had been in failing health since last winter, when he suffered a relapse from a previous illness.

The deceased is survived by a widow, Helen L. Bloore and two sons, Jack and Charles J., Jr. Funeral services were conducted in the chapel of the Tujunga Undertaking company Monday morning at 11 o'clock and a second service was held in the chapel at Forest Lawn cemetery. Interment was in Forest Lawn cemetery.

ASSESSMENT FOR
CONDUIT SOUGHTClosed Ditch Through City
To Carry Flood Waters
Is Favored

Favoring a closed conduit for carrying the Sycamore Canyon wash, and urging the City Council to create an assessment district that will enable the city to construct a connecting closed conduit from the end of the canyon wash to Forest Lawn Memorial park, the members of the Southeast Glendale Improvement association, through their president and secretary, have addressed the following communication to the taxpayers of Glendale:

"Inasmuch as a direct appeal to the City Council has been made by the Southeast Glendale Improvement association for the improvement and completion of the Sycamore Canyon road and Forest Lawn Memorial park, and which appeal is now under advisement by the City Council for the forming of a small assessment district of the adjacent property owners whose water is drained into Sycamore Canyon wash, we hereby appeal to the citizens of Glendale for their judgment.

Cites Bond Issue

"The recent bond election has provided for limited improvement of Sycamore Canyon wash. The engineers contemplate an open ditch in that section. The ditch cuts diagonally through the properties in the territory represented by the Southeast Glendale Improvement association. This open ditch destroys for all time any contemplated improvement of adjoining and abutting property, because of the inaccessible portion to the lots. The recent floodwaters have proved beyond a doubt to all of Glendale that the Sycamore Canyon wash is an eyesore to Glendale. The improvement of the upper section increases the hazard in the lower section, and the recent floodwaters are now a menace to the life and property of the people of Glendale.

"It is the judgment of the association that a closed conduit is the only reasonable solution for the permanent disposal of the floodwaters. The closed conduit entails an additional expense of approximately $35,000 (figures guaranteed by a responsible contractor). The Southeast Glendale Improvement association is therefore asking for the establishment of an assessed district, by amount of assessment to each taxpayer to be based upon the relative proximity to the improvement and the benefits derived therefrom.

Favors Closed Conduit

"A closed conduit makes possible the permanent closing of Glendale's eyesore, which is today a discredit to our city. It will eliminate the hazard of injury or possible death to our children, who play and must cross the wash on the way to and from the public schools. The association is impressed that the minds of the people of Glendale will recognize a concrete conduit six feet deep and open at the top is a menace not only to life, but the health of the community. By closing the conduit we are preventing the wash from becoming the dumping grounds for filth and insanitary refuse.

This district is the next area to pass into the apartment house property, being readily accessible to Los Angeles and all lines of transportation, and is in close walking distance to the fast-growing industrial section bordering on San Fernando road.

"The above is some detail of the conditions that exist in the southeast portion of Glendale, and we ask for the support of our City Council for the elimination of such condition.

"Yours very truly,
"SOUTHEAST GLENDALE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

Doctor Reports Gold
Taken From Office

Theft of $30 in gold from the office of Dr. E. M. Miller at 702 East Broadway was reported to the police department yesterday afternoon. Investigation revealed that entrance had been gained by jimmying a door.

Norman E. Hagle of 814 East Broadway is being held at police headquarters following receipt of a wire by Chief John D. Fraser from Guymon, Okla., charging a felony.

Disappearance of K. E. Wellens, aged 18 years, from his home at 1120 North Isabel street, is reported by the young man's mother, Mrs. Preddy of that address. He left Glendale yesterday afternoon for Los Angeles in a gray touring car, taking with him a Miss Webb, his mother reports. As he must report for ship duty to Submarine No. 33, stationed at San Pedro, she is worried over his absence.

Delegates Advertise
Towns at Kiwanis Meet

TUJUNGA, June 24.—A. C. Stover, Carroll W. Pacher and Jimmy Smith, delegates to the Kiwanis convention, held at Denver, arriving home in Tujunga Monday morning with reports of a wonderful time spent in and en route to the Colorado metropolis.

President Stover of the Tujunga club reports that the California delegation, numbering 232, was the second largest in the United States. The unanimous opinion of the three Tujunga delegates seems to be that Tujunga received more advertising from the trip than could be had in any other way. On the door of their drawing room on the Kiwanis' special train the Tujungans posted a sign, "Come in; Tujunga welcomes you," and "Singing" Jimmy Smith, who packed a new portable organ under his arm, says everybody on the train did come in.
